“We also rejoice in our sufferings, because we know that suffering produces perseverance; perseverance, character; and character, hope.” --Romans 5:3-4

As I reflect on 2014, blessings come to mind. And so do burdens. Prayers that were answered, and other prayers that remain unanswered. Friends who stood by me, and others who avoided me. Days when I had health and energy, and other days when I was so tired I felt I couldn't hold my head up one more moment. Times to relax, and times of enormous stress. Hope that filled my heart, and disappointments that crushed my spirit. The prospects of living through another roller-coaster year are almost daunting. I know it will be another year of faith-stretching, faith-building, faith-strengthening experiences. Another year of waiting...of looking up...for His return.

My beloved and wise Mother must have had days and weeks and months and years like this, too. Because on the window sill by the kitchen sink in our home when I was growing up was a little gold framed saying that had fallen into the sink so many times it had water stains on it. She gave me an exact duplicate of it, which I have hanging in my pantry. The saying reflects Mother's typical, whimsical sense of humor: Praise, Pray, and Peg Away. It has become my motto for 2015. As a result, I am filled with expectancy—my life is not being wasted. And I am filled with hope—Jesus is coming!

...the grace which is spreading to more and more people may cause the giving of thanks to abound to the glory of God. --2 Corinthians 4:15

Praises for God's grace in using ministry resources in specific ways to bring Him glory

- * I have just finished reading Wounded By God's People and I felt compelled to write to you. This is one of the most important books that I have ever read. I felt that you were speaking directly to me in my situation. God certainly spoke powerfully through you in every aspect of the book. I don't believe that I have ever been so eloquently ministered to in my entire life as I was by reading this tremendous book. (Tom, Wounded by God's People)
- * I cannot tell you how much your daily e-mails mean to me. They seem to hit home each day and are leading me to try to be stronger in the Lord. It is like having a friend come to your home each day and saying it's going to be okay, He will never leave you or forsake you. (Marilynn, e-devotions)

Instruction: Richly Rewarded

Read Hebrews 10:35-39

- * For what are we promised a reward?
- * In order to receive it, what must we do?
- * What is our motivation?
- * How can we be so confident of Jesus' return that we persevere until He does? Hebrews 10:23
- * When life gets hard, are you one who shrinks from it? Or triumphs over it?

PRAYER: REVERSED THUNDER Anne's Teaching Seminar at The Cove

November 6-8, 2015

The key to faith that works is the foundation on which it is placed. Come learn to base your faith in prayer on God's Word. Transform your walk with Jesus as you get equipped to pray effectively, gain motivation to seek the Father's heart, and embrace the power of His Spirit. Worship the Lord Jesus as the All-Mighty, prayer-hearing, prayer-answering, miracle-working God and see Him meet your deepest needs and calm your greatest fears. Better understand what it means to "rejoice always, pray without ceasing," and "give thanks in all circumstances" (1 Thessalonians 5:16-18, ESV) and watch your heart change and touch the lives around you.

This picture was posted on Facebook December 12th with the following excerpt from a message I had given years ago for the King's Birthday. It received over one million views...

Is there some brokenness in your life? Maybe it's your heart that's been broken. And because it's been broken you are devastated and you think, "This year, I can't have a meaningful Christmas." But you can, because the meaning of Christmas is not necessarily in our relationships, in our family, in the invitations we get or give, in the people that we see or don't see. It's in the worship of Christ. Christmas means Christ Mass; worship of Christ.
